Author-artist Zelda Leah Gatuskin first published her creative non-fiction journal TIME AND TEMPERATURE in a limited artist's edition in 2003 by producing a few dozen copies in her studio. Her thought-provoking collection of art, poetry and prose is now available in a new trade paperback edition. With humor, honesty and creativity, Gatuskin addresses a wide range of subjects. Like her earlier collection, the highly praised ANCESTRAL NOTES: A Family Dream Journal, TIME AND TEMPERATURE is a journey of self-discovery, not an argument for any particular point of view. Readers will be inspired to contemplate their own assumptions and beliefs about life, work, art and society.

Critical Acclaim: "Zelda Gatuskin blends prose, poetry and art in a profound and personal exploration of writing and life. Her journey is one that anyone living a creative life will identify with and appreciate."—Mark David Gerson, THE VOICE OF THE MUSE: Answering the Call to Write

"An intimate glimpse into a subtle intellect working some of humanity's most profound questions.... TIME AND TEMPERATURE is a book for thoughtful people, and I recommend it to those who enjoy exploring ideas and who, perhaps, are searching for their own answers to questions about truth, purpose, and ultimate reality." —Paul H. Deal, WALKING THE TAO: A Search for Understanding Guided by the Tao Te Ching

"Gatuskin chronicles the mischievous life of the mind where games, dreams, and meditations spar and inspire." —Marilyn Stablein, SLEEPING IN CAVES: A Sixties Himalayan Memoir

"....A conversation and an enlightenment and a sharing and a yeasty growing." —Leona Mason Heitsch, LEAVES and TOWARD WANTING MORE
